

Nikita Begins 18-Day Tour Of Scandinavia

Russia Expected
To Plug for Ban on Nuclear Weapons

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev headed for Copenhagen today, starting an 18-day Scandinavian tour during which he is expected to plug for a ban on nuclear weapons in the countries he is visiting as well as central Europe.

Accompanied by his wife, Nina, and a party of Soviet officials, Khrushchev left Moscow by train Sunday night. He will board a ship today at Kaliningrad and is due in the Danish capital Tuesday morning.

A cheering crowd of Muscovites saw the 70-year-old Soviet leader off on his third foreign trip in three months. Khrushchev visited Hungary in April and the United Arab Republic in May.

Seeks "Sea of Peace"

As he tours Denmark, Norway and Sweden, Khrushchev probably will try again to crack the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's northern defense ring by asking the Scandinavian countries to join in turning the Baltic into a sea of peace.

Khrushchev has often urged a ban on nuclear weapons in central Europe and Scandinavia. He has been particularly anxious to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to West Germany, a NATO member. Nuclear weapons also would be banned from Communist East Germany under Khrushchev's proposal.

Although there is considerable anti-nuclear sentiment in Scandinavia, NATO members Denmark and Norway have been unwilling to act independently of their Atlantic alliance partners on the nuclear-free zone.

Neutral Sweden officially supported a nuclear-free central and northern Europe as far back as two years ago. It has always insisted on firm controls to prevent cheating.

Khrushchev will spend six days in each country, ending his tour in Sweden July 4.

Indicate Opposition

Various groups in each country have indicated degrees of opposition to the visit. A Swedish organization plans to hold public protest meetings. Its members include many exiles from the formerly independent Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, annexed by the Soviet Union after World War II.

Three years ago bitter public opposition forced Khrushchev to cancel a trip to Scandinavia.

Racial Strife Continues In St. Augustine

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Street marching by white segregationists apparently was over today, at least temporarily. It was uncertain whether Negroes would resume marching tonight.

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which is directing the integration drive in the nation's oldest city, said former baseball star Jackie Robinson would join the campaign today.

Busloads of supporters also were expected from several cities, including Albany, Ga., the SCLC office said.

Sunday night, white segregationists marched for the third night in a row but they walked only five blocks in the downtown area. In two previous marches, white demonstrators had walked through a Negro section.

The crowd again met in a park before the march. J. B. Stoner, Ku Klux Klan attorney from Atlanta, told the rally that unless out-of-town Negro leaders pulled out a fire-you-Negro campaign would begin.

Stoner said there would be no march tonight by the segregationist group.

Thirty-six Negroes and a white man were arrested Sunday for trying to integrate a restaurant and two churches. This brought to 127 the number of arrests since last Thursday when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was jailed for refusing to leave a motel restaurant. King was released Saturday on bond but said he would return by Tuesday.

As Mt. Union College Held Its 118th Commencement

"When will we learn that the problems of society should be faced on a society level and not a school level?" was a question posed for 212 Mount Union College graduates Sunday.

The John Hay Fellows Program director spoke at Mount Union's 118th commencement exercise, urging the graduates to activate the left hand of dreaming with the right hand of doing in these times of great and rapid change.

TWO SALEM area graduates received their diplomas cum laude, having compiled a grade-point average between 3.3 and 3.55 on the 4-point system—Elizabeth West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron A. West, Damascus, and Lynn King, son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. King, RD 4, Salem.

Earlier at the Honors Convocation, Miss West was the recipient of the Phi Sigma biology award, and King, the Grand Army of the Republic memorial history prize.

Valedictorian of the class was Joyce Takacs of Cleveland with a 3.9 grade-point average.

The Good Citizenship Award went to Sylvester Green of Sandusky, who will complete requirements for graduation this summer.

Dr. Carl C. Bracy, celebrating his tenth anniversary as Mount Union's sixth president, gave the morning's baccalaureate sermon.

HONORARY DEGREES were presented to Dr. Keller and Dr. Michael L. Furcolow, a Mount Union graduate who has gained international recognition for his public health work and medical research.

The warning on the need to face the problem of society and schools came as Dr. Keller discussed five aspects of a current educational revolution:

1. The curriculum in motion with a significant reforms within subject areas;

2. The Advanced Placement Program where college-level courses in high school earn college credits;

3. "Lock-step-breaking" with learning for learning's sake through the beginning of non-graded elementary and secondary schools;

4. The reemergence of the humanities with the importance of learning as discovery and

County Woman Hurt In Crash

3 Youths Cited
After Accidents

An East Liverpool woman was slightly hurt and a cow was killed in two of six traffic mishaps today and over the weekend.

Three youths were cited to Juvenile Court and one other motorist was arrested.

Mrs. George B. Cochran, 63, of RD 3, East Liverpool suffered a whiplash of the neck when the car in which she was riding was hit from behind Sunday at 11 p.m. on County Rd. 430, a half mile east of Calcutta. She was not treated.

She was riding in a car operated by her husband, George, 63, who was stopped to make a left turn from Route 430 and was struck by an auto driven by Marilyn K. Fowler, 17, of East Liverpool. The girl was cited to Juvenile Court for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

The cow which was killed today at 2:10 a.m. a half mile south of Columbiana on the Lower Elkton Rd. got loose from the farm of Richard Rudabaugh, Elkton cattle hauler. John Lee Hall, 18, of 206 High St., Leetonia told the Lisbon Post of the State Highway Patrol he was driving north on the township road when he hit the

County Judge's Home Penetrated by Bullet

County Judge James L. MacDonald, Lisbon RD, reported to the sheriff's office this morning that a .32 caliber bullet penetrated the siding of his home about six inches from a bedroom window Saturday night.

It is the second house on Route 30, west of Lisbon, to have been damaged by a bullet within the past month. Clarence King reported a .45 caliber bullet struck his house a few weeks ago. The houses are about a mile apart.

100,000 Troops Took Part Military Exercise Cost $54 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent Army-Air Force war games in the Far West cost about $54 million and were the most costly since World War II, it was learned today.

The Associated Press was told this was the price tag on Desert

Strike, a two-week mock war in which some 100,000 Army troops and Air Force units duelled over areas of California, Arizona and Nevada last month.

The Defense Department said it originally had been calculated the exercise would cost $60.1 million, but that various economies had sliced about $6 million from that estimate.

By comparison, "Exercise Big Lift" last fall cost $20 million. In this operation, the 16,000 men of an armored division were flown 5,600 miles from Texas to Germany and returned after maneuvers near the Iron Curtain.

The Pentagon said "the major contributing factor to the cost of joint exercise Desert Strike was the commercial transportation of the armored units and their heavy equipment to and from the exercise area."

Two armored divisions — the 1st and 2nd — were moved by train from Ft. Hood, Tex., to the three-state battleground. Armored divisions have about 3,750 vehicles, including 364 tanks and 660 personnel carriers.

Also involved in Desert Strike were an armored brigade of the California National Guard and a tank battalion from Ft. Campbell, Ky., in Air Force planes, the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division came from Colorado and various smaller Army and Air Force units were drawn from as far away as the East Coast.

The cost of moving Army forces by commercial means, where this was done, was estimated at $27.9 million. Asked why Desert Strike was considered worth the outlay of funds, the Pentagon cited these reasons, among others: —"It is the first time since World War II that we have been able to get two armored divisions into an exercise maneuver area in the United States where

Lodge Denies Plans to Resign

Terms Washington
Report Untrue

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge today termed "totally untrue" a Washington report that he was resigning within 30 days.

"There is no truth at all in that," Lodge said through a spokesman.

Lodge repeatedly has denied similar reports in the past. On one recent occasion he said "I am not resigning but I don't plan to stay here the rest of my life, either."

The New York Times had reported that Lodge had asked to be relieved within 30 days for reasons of health. The White House in Washington said President Johnson had received no letter of resignation.

The Columbia Broadcasting System reported from Saigon that Lodge said the report he had submitted his resignation was "totally untrue."

The American Broadcasting Co. said Lodge, talking Sunday night in Saigon with ABC correspondent Charles P. Arnot, denied published reports that he was returning to the United States before the Republican National Convention. Lodge made no mention in the taped interview about resigning, an ABC spokesman said.

Lodge, 61, won New Hamp-

School Board to Act On Personnel Changes

Action on personnel changes is expected to be the major concern of the Salem Board of Education at its regular meeting tonight at 7.

Supt. of Schools Paul E. Smith will submit two retirements, a resignation, a leave-of-absence and the names of several new teachers to the board for its action or consideration.

Smith said the new budget will not be discussed until an adjourned session June 29 in preparation for final action July 20. Action on non-certificated personnel will also await the June 29 meeting.

Scranton Bids For Delegates

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton today opened a six-state quest for delegate support in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Pennsylvania's chief executive pointed his campaign westward into regions generally claimed by his No. 1 opponent, U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Scranton, after making a commencement address at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., was to go to Des Moines, Iowa, to confer with the Iowa delegation to the national convention.

Tuesday he will be at Topeka, Kan., and Minneapolis, Minn. Wednesday, he goes to St. Louis, Mo., and Denver, Colo., and on Saturday he is booked to keynote the Massachusetts GOP convention. Aides said there was a possibility other states would be included on the week's tour.

Scranton said he would speak every day this week, unless the work of the Pennsylvania Legislature prevents it.

He has admitted he started late in the campaign and has a long, uphill fight. But, he has

Two Alliance Youth Elected At Boys State

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Newly-elected Gov. Geoffrey McKenzie of Buckeye Boys State began his administration today as more than 1,300 citizens of the American Legion sponsored encampment started the wheels of their mock government.

McKenzie, from Cincinnati's Princeton High School, headed a virtual sweep of the top offices by the Nationalist Party in Sunday's balloting.

So intense and spirited had been the campaigning that records showed only two of the 1,309 boys taking part in the self-government school failed to cast ballots.

McKenzie received 780 votes compared to 504 for his Federalist Party opponent, Bruce Core of Washington Court House.

Four other Nationalist Party candidates for six top offices emerged victorious, but Atlas Jones, Federalist from Chillicothe, was the best vote getter as he copped the state treasurer's post.

Jones polled 873 while his opponent, James Sell of Leesville, received 431.

The other top posts went to these Federalists: Geoffrey Ut-

Massive Hunt Staged for Trio In Pennsylvania

Men Open Fire
When Stopped for
Radar Speed Check

EPHRATA, Pa. (AP) — Two state policemen were shot and wounded and two others captured and handcuffed to a tree for a brief period Sunday by three men who were stopped on the Pennsylvania Turnpike for a routine radar speed check.

The three, all from Milwaukee, Wis., were arrested by police several hours later, after a massive manhunt with bloodhounds and helicopters. State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy directed some 100 men in the hunt.

Charges Are Filed

The three, Gerald L. Sarson, 17, Howard E. Langnes, 24, and James Eugene Szulcowski, 21, were charged with assault with intent to kill, pointing a deadly weapon, and aggravated assault and battery against a police officer.

They were committed to Lancaster County prison, awaiting a hearing. Lt. Rufus Williams said additional charges will be filed.

The wounded troopers are Edward Herbst, 35, of Reamstown, Pa., and Fred W. Bendl, 22, of Nazareth, Pa. Herbst was shot in the face and neck and was reported in serious condition at Ephrata General Hospital. Bendl, who was shot in the leg, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Police theorized that the trio shot at the troopers because they were in a stolen car and because they may have thought they were going to be picked up for other crimes in Milwaukee.

Unhurt were troopers Robert Malarky and Stanley Sycek. They had been handcuffed to a tree with their own handcuffs, but freed themselves just as the gunfight broke out on the side of the turnpike.

3 Indicted by Jury Plead Innocent

Three persons indicted by the Columbiana County grand jury pleaded not guilty this morning at arraignment before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp in Lisbon.

One pleaded guilty and requested probation.

Pleading innocent were: David Lee Stoakes, 19, of East Liverpool, burglary; Mary Ellen Lawson, 19, Youngstown, grand larceny; and John Cook, 24, Canton, burglary.

James Lee Hughes, 18, of East Liverpool pleaded guilty to burglary, and Judge Sharp ordered probation investigation.

William Buchholz of Windham indicted for larceny by trick, was out of the state but will appear later to enter a plea.

George Manis, 49, of Salem, also indicted by the recalled grand jury, appeared last week and pleaded guilty to burglary of Schaefer's Tavern in Salem and requested probation.

Rights Passage Seen This Week

Senate Faces Big
Backlog of Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leaders drive this week for passage of the civil rights bill, and so confident are they of victory, they already are turning their attention to other major administration legislation.

A tremendous pileup of House-approved measures is awaiting Senate action once the civil rights bill is passed.

All sides, including the Southerners who have fought the bill since March 9, concede it will pass this week, with Wednesday or Thursday considered the most likely day.

Sen. Barry Goldwater will vote against the measure unless it is materially revised, his campaign manager said Sunday night. Denison Kitchel said Goldwater, Arizona Republican who is seeking the Republican presidential nomination, objects to the bill's provisions on public accommodation and private employment practices. No revisions are likely on these provisions.

Among the "must" measures waiting their turn in the Senate is the $533-million federal pay

Pay Ordinance Before Council

An ordinance granting pay increases to nearly all city employees and creating three new firemen and policemen posts, is expected to be passed when City Council convenes in regular session Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m.

The ordinance, given its first reading June 2, calls for a three per cent wage hike in all job classifications, except where inequities existed.

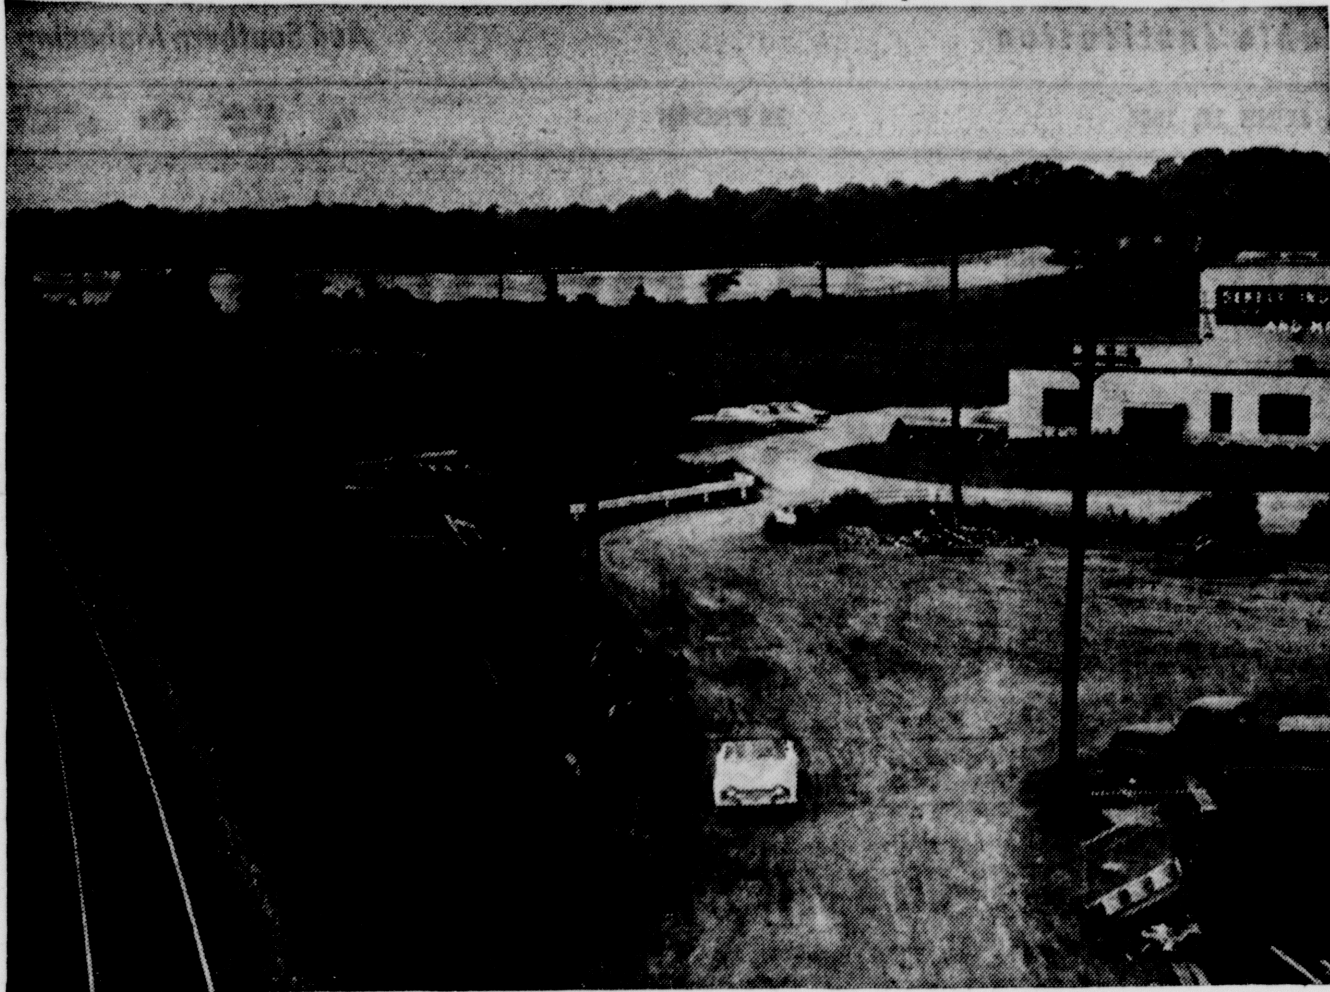

Some workers, mostly elected officials, did not receive a pay increase.

Ruth Bible Class will meet at 8 p.m. Friday in the Methodist Church.

Over 400 persons attended the Vacation Bible School closing program Friday in Orchard Hill School.

Rev. William Woodall of the First Presbyterian Church introduced Miss Anna Marie, a Mennonite missionary nurse, who spoke and demonstrated various customs of living and dress in Ghana.

Rev. Allen Eberssle, superintendent of the Bible School, reported an average attendance of 197 children, with 92 having a perfect attendance record for the past two weeks.

The missionary offering was reported as $148.50, to be given to the American Bible Society. Donations from the Good Friday offering and closing program amounted to $131.43. Expenses for the two weeks totaled $292.04, which leaves a deficit of $160.56 to be shared by the six cooperating churches.

LOYAL WORKERS Class of the First Presbyterian Church will sponsor a strawberry festival from 5-7 p.m. Saturday at the church.

The Junior Department of St. Paul's Lutheran Church School spent Sunday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whan of Columbiana-Lisbon Rd. After being served breakfast, the group played games. Cynthia Painter and Sandra Kridler led the singing and Mrs. Harold Wurster had charge of devotions.

A SMALL turnout was noted Friday at the first of a series of weekly dances sponsored by the Ruritan Club at Orchard Hill School. The club is sponsoring the dances to provide recreation for the village, as well as to aid the scholarship fund and other funds.

Next dance will be Friday at the school. A combo, "The Uncalled Four," has been scheduled to provide music for the June 26 dance.

Indonesia, Malaysia OK Checkpoints

checkpoints for Thai-monitored withdrawal of Indonesian guer-on the dispute over Malaysia.

Philippine trouble-shooter Sal-

The delegations from Malay-

This will be the signal for the Victory Is Won, Not Bestowed

If former President Eisenhower is going to persist in the role of GOP political mentor—and he plainly relishes it—he should bring his counsel into line with the commonplace realities of politics.

For instance, he is preoccupied with the thought that party conventions should be open, with the nomination finally bestowed by consensus on some mystery champion who has licked all comers in a fair fight.

That wasn't the way the nomination came to him in 1952, and that isn't the way nominations come to anyone. What is worth having is worth fighting for. From time immemorial, political king-makers and candidates have been fighting tooth and nail to sew up delegates in advance. Victory is won, not bestowed.

The only foreseeable result of an open of one candidate stronger than all the others in terms of delegate power spells frustration.

The foreseeable result of a deadlock is nomination of a compromise candidate, who is most cases would be less than satisfactory to all factions.

THERE IS A place of honor in Republican counsels for Mr. Eisenhower that would not put him on the spot on matters he cannot handle with the experience of lifelong practice.

It would be that of elder statesman. He should be consulted and listened to with respect in matters of international policy. His advice should be valued on issues of philosophy and honor.

This man who never cast a vote in a national election until he took off his military uniform to enter politics is in no position to act as mentor to a major party in matters of practical politics.

His assumption of the role has put him and those who respect him as an outstanding individual in an awkward position.

THE REPUBLICAN party's proper mentor is its most recent presidential candidate, Richard M. Nixon. He is its elected leader and will continue to be so until his successor is named in the Republican convention at San Francisco next month. He has the expertise to carry the role. We don't believe Mr. Nixon ever would buy the Eisenhower idea of an open convention. He knows better. The Republican convention that nominated him in 1960 was closed as tight as the one that had nominated Mr. Eisenhower in 1952. It was closed even tighter than the Democratic convention that nominated John F. Kennedy. And it was closed because Mr. Eisenhower, himself, had tapped his vice president for the nomination.

Let political mentoring be handled by the GOP's elected leader and let Mr. Eisenhower join our other two living former presidents, Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman, in the elder statesmen's gallery.

Two-Party System In Space

A more than ordinarily interesting example of the two-party system's ideal function is an attack on the National Aviation and Space Agency for disregarding the safety of astronauts in its haste to put men on the moon.

Here is the raw material of political attack and defense. The Johnson administration, if continued in office, will be responsible for the decision to speed up or slow down the project to reach the moon. A special report of the House of Representatives Republican Conference says the project should be slowed down because haste will expose astronauts to needless danger.

NASA, which is of politics though not necessarily in politics, must offer a defense against this charge, as must the Johnson administration if the issue develops during the 1964 campaign. The only plausible defense is proof that no unnecessary risks are contemplated—which would be impossible to prove, of course, because a lunar project itself is an unnecessary risk.

Whether it was being carried out under a Democratic or a Republican administration, a moon shot could not possibly be described as a dire necessity that made attendant risks necessary.

But if a moon shot is to be justified, the administration responsible must be able to say that every safeguard was used, thus guaranteeing that astronauts will be given maximum protection.

This is the ideal function of the two-party system—this process of criticism and defense that goes on endlessly for the protection of the people.

The Anatomy of Persuasion

The Survey Research Center of University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research has come up with some provocative ideas about voting in the United States.

It concludes from its studies that about 45 per cent of us are Democrats, divided 20 per cent strong, 25 per cent weak; 30 per cent Republicans, equally split between weak and strong, and the other 25 per cent are independents.

But there is this curious thing about the independents—that only about one per cent of them know what's going on. The rest are not really independent, in the sense of weighing pros and cons. They are ignorant. They haven't made up their minds because they lack convictions and information.

THIS SUGGESTS that they lack initiative. They may be deficient in interest, as well. Efforts to reach them probably will be thwarted by the same characteristics that caused them to be undecided in the first place. They are politically retarded, except for that exceptional one per cent.

In other words, the run-of-mine independent voter is not prime-target material in a political campaign. Campaigners would do better to direct their efforts at weak elements in the two major parties, for the purpose of getting them to the polls in a state of mind to make a decision favorable to the campaigners.

This was illustrated in the California Republican primary, when Goldwater partisans in the Los Angeles area worked tirelessly to line up voters already inclined to be favorable to their candidate, while pollsters impressed with the number of voters elsewhere who said they were still "undecided."

ONE OF TWO things must be true about "undecided" voters.

Either they lack the information and convictions to bring them to a decision, or they are pulling pollsters' legs, figuring that how they intend to vote is their personal business.

This may be expected to have bearing on the 1964 campaigning. The idea is getting around that anyone undecided this year would have to be a recluse or a faker.

The Brides

Day in and day out during June there is appreciative awareness that this is the month of brides. Why June should be, other than the fact it is the time when school is out and all the young lady schoolteachers are free to go to the altar is one of the obscurities of social practice.

But it is. This year, something more than 220,000 women will be brides and involved in wedding plans, together with their families, the grooms' families and all the elements of a plus-$2-billion industry that has evolved around the marriage ceremony.

In the whole year only 1.8 million women will be married, though better than 12 per cent of them will be married in June, showing the bridal month's disproportionate share of the total.

So much for the meaningless statistics of the situation. Far more important is a singular fact observed over a long period of years and never disputed.

This year's June brides, like their counterparts in the other 11 marrying months of the year, are the most beautiful ever—the best turned out, the best educated, the best adjusted, loveliest, nicest, most cheerful, most poised group ever to dive headlong into the sea of matrimony.

We don't know how our civilization keeps doing this year after year, but it does. Next year's brides will be even better. You can bet on it.

'Purge' of Congress

By VICTOR RIESEL

Labor leaders have been consulting with Lyndon Johnson in his private office, his private limousine, his private washroom and, sotto voce, even on the receiving lines for crowned heads of state from distant continents.

Victor Riesel

Obviously there is a limit to the number of times they can pledge him their support, so the conversations must have touched upon other matters. They have—such as the matter of the "purge" of Congress and especially of the House of Representatives.

The lower chamber has a light conservative majority. Labor—meaning the AFL-CIO and its energetic and skillful Committee on Political Education (COPE)—wants to turn the House into a safe, liberal, pro-union body in the fall elections. This they believe they can do by beating 25 conservatives and replacing them with men who will vote straight down the labor line.

IN SOME DISTRICTS, labor's political strategists seek to elect more than just friends. They're already in the fight to put actual union officials in Congress to add to the bloc of 24 former union officials and staff members already there. This column's survey finds one of Walter Reuther's aides, one of Dave McDonald's Steelworkers' lieutenants and a business agent from the Operating Engineers running for Congress this year. There are others.

The figure of 25 pro-labor congressmen was not pulled out of a union hat. It's simple arithmetic. In 1960, despite the election of John Kennedy, the liberal-labor bloc in the House lost 21 seats.

In 1962 labor's coalition in the House just about held its own—again despite the backing of the White House. So the COPE leaders have now set the target at recouping the 21 seats lost four years ago plus an additional four or five just to give them a margin of safety over the conservatives in showdowns over future legislation long desired by the union leaders.

THIS LEGISLATION is very important to them and their organizing plans despite the fact that the public rarely hears of the proposals and doesn't understand them when they are discussed publicly.

Labor is especially agitated because it has not had sufficient strength in the House, for example, to get something passed called a "common situs law." Such legislation would give construction workers the right to picket a whole construction project at all gates through the dispute be only with the operator of a temporary cafeteria or a single contractor installing one pipe on a $100 million complex. Thus an entire project could be stalled.

Just three weeks ago in New York union chiefs, in a closed door conference with Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, demanded action on such a bill. He said he would relay their wishes to President Johnson. But the present congressional votes are just not sufficient for this and many others on labor's "must" list.

Whenever the administration has been needed by the labor leaders on such bills, the White House has always retorted that it just does not have the votes. So a list has been drawn up.

THE FIGHT will be made in 79 marginal districts. These are areas which were won by the incumbents by a margin of 5 per cent or less.

Not all of the 79 marginal districts are in the hands of conservatives. Many are held by labor's friends or labor officials. But to gain liberal control of the House, COPE must first insure the victory of its allies. Then it must defeat the conservatives in at least 25 districts of the 79. Nineteen of these are in the Northeast.

But labor isn't going to have the battlefield all to itself. The National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) has some mathematicians and politicians, too. They're also going into the marginal areas.

On May 6, 1964, the NAM mailed a long letter to businessmen throughout key districts. The communication said that the presidential race was important, but that "the type of legislation we can expect in 1965 and 1966 may well be determined by the results in a relatively few races for the U. S. House of Representatives."

Today the House is almost evenly divided between congressmen with "liberal" voting records, and those with moderate - to - conservative voting records. This is reflected by the very small margin by which many controversial bills have been passed or defeated in recent years.

To assist and "encourage businessmen to become active" in these districts, the NAM is offering analyses, fact sheets and know-how. They have a long way to go to catch up with COPE. But the fight is on.

Pentagon Interview

By LAURENCE BARRETT

The Defense Department has issued a new directive imposing new bureaucratic goo on press interviews but the Pentagon's motives are pure.

We know that altruism and concern for an educated citizenry impelled Assistant Secretary Arthur Sylvester to write his new order. We know this because Mr. Sylvester tells us so. Right there in the order he says its purpose is to "keep the secretary of defense properly informed as to whether there is a broad and continuous flow of information from the Department of Defense to the public, particularly through the media representatives."

It would be churlish to suggest that Mr. Sylvester and his boss, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, could find out what the papers are printing by reading them. The way they're going to keep Mr. McNamara informed on how well reporters are keeping the public informed is to have the military services furnish a weekly report to Mr. Sylvester.

This report is to be broken down to five columns, the directive directs: "Date; Interviewer and Organization; Interviewee and Title; Subject(s); PIO Present (Yes or No)."

Actually, the order issued May 18 and disclosed with exemplary promptness 10 days later is only the latest in a series that started in October, 1962. The first directive required that an information officer be present at interviews or, in his absence, that the interview be noted. The latest length of red tape simply elaborates on the orders of 1962 and later.

It's logical to expect that there will be future embellishments of Pentagon press policy. It is not difficult to visualize a typical interview, say a year from now. Present are Jack Scoop, "media representative"; Sen. Burley Guy, a three-star with a future and Col. Bright-fellow Wary, Press Information Officer.

Scoop (displaying his Pentagon identity card with photograph and fingerprints, his Pentagon building pass with photograph and his privilege card for the barbershop and dining room): Welcome back from Viet Nam, general. I thought I might ask you about your tour over there and...

Wary: All right, we'll waive about your credentials?

Scoop: Here are my identity card, my building pass and my privilege card. Won't they do?

Wary: The new regulations call for a media representative badge to be worn adjacent to and three inches from the left leg by the interviewer so that he's talking to the enemy.

Scoop: I'm sorry, I forgot.

Wary: All right, we'll waive the requirement. Just strap yourself into the lie detector...

no, not you, general. You're not talking to the secretary now, only to a media representative.

Scoop: Now that I'm strapped in, about Viet Nam?

Guy: Actually, there's not much I can...

Wary: Wait a minute, I've got seven more columns to fill in. Scoop, what's your wife's maiden name?

Scoop: I'm single.

Wary: All right, your girl friend's name then.

Scoop: Well, I have a few.

Wary: The form only has room for one. Which one do you like best? Remember, that's not a blood-pressure gimmick you're wearing.

Scoop: Constance Schwartzbart. Now, about Laos...

Wary: Hold on. You didn't list Laos among your subject(s).

Guy: As a matter of fact, I'm very familiar with...

Wary: That's not the point. I've already programmed this through the computer.

Scoop: Wholl know the difference?

Wary: Have you forgotten we're in a new interview chamber?

Scoop: Bugged?

Wary (nodding his head vigorously): What a dreadful thing to say! Of course not.

Scoop: I give up.

Guy (as the trio leaves): Say, Jack, I hope you can get a squib in the paper about my wife. She's just been made chairman of the rummage sale.

Fallible Polls

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Back in the 1920s, young academic teachers of what is called political science believed that they saw a bright light and a dazzling breakthrough. Two ideas were not necessarily new, but in the context of politics they were hailed as the beginning of a new era in political analysis.

The first was known in academic terms as the "economic interpretation of politics." While this had been given prominence by Marx and Marxists, it was of earlier origins. It held that people's (and in the new context, voters') choices were determined by "empirical data." The people who operate the computers are still enthralled by this quackery.

THE OTHER "discovery" of those years was political prognosis by polling. We — for I, too, was a junior political science professor at that time — greeted his innovation with the enthusiasm which in other phases of knowledge greeted the discoveries of Harvey and Salk.

Like arc welding, poll taking was first a gadget and finally big business. But arc welding really stuck things together. Polls leave everyone confused.

After my initial enthusiasm subsided, my observations and cogitations brought me finally to my present state of disbelief. The first qualification in my mind was this: If there could be a poll on, say, Oct. 1 which people believed to be perfectly accurate, the preference of many of them would change.

Some would follow the Pickwickian counsel and shout with the larger crowd. Others, who had been only casually interested in politics, would think more about the prospective winner and perhaps decide against him. Political managers would intensify their efforts in doubtful areas, deply their workers and money, and thus change many minds while they planned to carry or drag their supporters to the election booths on election day.

The result, then, would be substantially different from the pollsters' predictions.

ANOTHER CONSIDERATION born of experience with human beings, was that while a large number of voters are creatures of habit and follow the political parties of their forefathers, many others care nothing at all about politics and don't actually know what their choice would be. Since almost everyone wants to appear informed and thoughtful, these ignorant and indifferent people often respond with sharp and clear preferences. Still others neglect a decision until a day or two before election. These tell the polltakers that they are undecided. And the sum total of the undecided usually decides elections.

Since people who are approached by a stranger with a notebook become immediately suspicious, many people are afraid that their friends and neighbors may learn their choice, and so they answer, if they answer at all, with a choice which will not impair their personal relations. This would be especially true in a labor-union community.

In 1950 in England I learned that many women, the wives of trade unionists, had been asking reporters whether their husbands could find out how they had voted. I decided then that this would mean heavy losses for the Labor party. That is what happened.

BUT HERE is the rub. How many people really tell the truth to the poll taker? In that British campaign in 1950, I asked Herbert Morrison, the second-in-command in the Labor party, what allowance they made in their "canvasses" for people who did not tell the truth. He said, "About 30 per cent." Then I asked a member of the conservative high command the same question. He said, "About 25 per cent."

Thus, the cunning, the indecision, the ignorance, and the apathy of human beings defeat the most strenuous efforts of the pollsters.

Finally, since abstention from voting is an American habit, no pollster can tell whether the people he counts will vote.

To be sure, the pollsters now seek to determine "trends" by successive polls. But here they are confronted with keeping up with rapidly changing preferences.

I cannot believe that one pre-primary California pollster could possibly have found the changes that he reported from Saturday to Monday, certainly not in as big a state as California.

One pollster since that primary has covered his mistakes by saying that the polls were accurate "when they were taken." That is a perfect bomb-shell. For no one, not even the pollsters, can prove such an assertion.

Perhaps with a bit of humility on the part of the pollsters and plenty of public criticism of their silly predictions, these people can perform a useful service. But I have profound doubts about that. Up to now, they have badly served the efforts of Americans to create a better political system.

Back Through the Years

(From The News Files)

10 YEARS AGO — The Board of Education last night re-appointed 126 teachers and supervisors for the Salem public school system.

City Council last night - after two recesses - denied Mayor Dean B. Cramers request that it take action on the controversial curfew ordinance.

25 YEARS AGO — The Girls' Recreation Club will meet at 4 p.m. Thursday in the Memorial Building.

35 YEARS AGO — Mayor Phil G. Hiddleston announced today his candidacy for re-election on the Democratic ticket.

Marshall P. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Bailey of Salem received his M. A. degree in music from Harvard this week.

Today In History

Today is Monday, June 15, the 167th day of 1964. There are 199 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1836, Arkansas was admitted to the Union as the 25th state.

On this date

In 1215, the Magna Charta was signed by King John of England at Runnymede.

In 1775, George Washington accepted command of the Continental Army.

In 1846, the Oregon Boundary Treaty was signed by the United States and Great Britain.

In 1936, Germans outflanked the Maginot Line in World War II.

In 1945, the World War II Allies announced the capture of German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop in Hamburg.

Ten years ago—The International Court of Justice ruled in favor of Italy and against Britain, France and the United States in a dispute over $2 million in gold taken from Rome by the Germans in 1943.

Five years ago—A U.S. Navy patrol plane was attacked by two Communist-marked jet fighter planes over international al waters 85 miles east of Wonsan, North Korea.

One year ago — Hundreds of Negroes rioted in Jackson, Miss., after the funeral of Medgar Evers, the Negro civil rights leader slain by a hidden rifleman.

So They Say

The action and the antics of the proponents of the civil rights legislation in trying to integrate the south and keep segregation in their areas prove the validity of the old American saying that "it all depends on whose ox is being gored—and how much."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I was particularly interested in the letter from the young man who wanted to know what you thought about having his mother's body disinterred because he heard from relatives that she had been buried in expensive jewelry.

My nephew had an experience which might throw some light on this subject. His young wife died suddenly. He was so grieved that he gave no thought to the wedding ring or the wrist watch she was wearing at the time of the accident. When she was laid out the wrist watch and wedding ring were on her hand.

After the funeral the mortician handed my nephew an envelope and told him it contained his wife's jewelry. My nephew said, "I thought she was buried with it."

The mortician replied, "It is against the law to bury people in jewelry."

So, if a loved one is thought to be buried in jewelry perhaps it would be wise to check with the undertaker and find out what he did with it. — MAY JUSTICE BE DONE.

Dear May: Each state has its own burial laws. My Illinois experts tell me there is no law in this state which prohibits burying a person in jewelry. In fact, a Chicago funeral director was buried recently wearing his diamond cufflinks because his wife requested that this be done.

Unhappy Daughter

Dear Ann: I'm almost out of my mind with worry. My husband and I (both 55) raised a lovely daughter. She was married eight years ago to a young man who seemed superb in every way. They now have three youngsters.

Last week my daughter sobbed out her story. She is at the breaking point. Her husband has been abusive to her from the start. He has had one affair after another and she has lost all love and respect for him. He refuses to get outside help and the poor girl is going to pieces.

She is not a complainer. Ann, I hadn't heard one word about her trouble until now.

God knows I don't want to interfere with her life but I can't bear to see her go on this way. Do I dare invite her and the children to come home? We live in a neighboring city. It would not be easy but we could manage.

I haven't said anything to my husband. I wanted to get your opinion first. Help, Please. — HEARTSICK.

Dear Heartsick: I'm opposed to "inviting" married children to "come home." Many marriages might have been saved if the wife had no alternative but to stay put and work out her problems.

Don't invite your daughter to come home, but let her know if life becomes intolerable, or if her husband continues to abuse her physically, she and the children have a place with you.

Vote of Confidence

Dear Ann: I'm the fifth-grade English teacher at Stewart School in Cincinnati. As an experiment I read to my class the letter from your column about Jerry, who was put in charge when the teacher left the room.

Two of Jerry's best friends behaved badly. When the teacher returned she found the room in an uproar. Jerry reported his friends as the trouble makers and they lost their privileges for one week. The friends became angry with Jerry for "snitching." He wanted to know if he was in the right or not.

I'm sending you the responses of my fifth graders. As you can see, every pupil agreed with your advice. Interesting?—E.R.

Dear E. R.: Very! I was further pleased to see that your fifth graders can also spell and put sentences together properly. Cheers for Stewart School in Cincinnati!

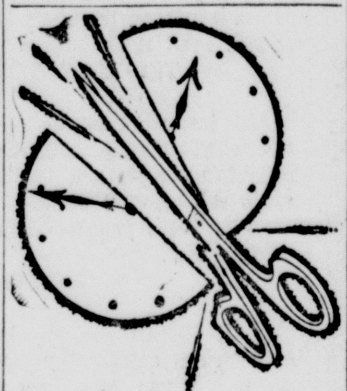

Blabber Mynah

LOS ANGELES: Our mynah bird, Socrates, had a fairly large vocabulary and did a good bit of talking. We always thought mynah birds were strictly imitators but now I'm not so sure.

Three days before the California election for governor I was having an argument with a friend. I said to him, "I'll bet you $20 Nixon will win." Socrates poked his head through the cage and shrieked, "NO. NO. NO. Pat Brown will win, Pat Brown will win."

How do you like them apples?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. George B. Emeny Jr.

Ann Reed Putnam Wed To George Emeny Jr.

Nuptial vows were exchanged Saturday at 4 p.m. in the sanctuary of St. Michael's Episcopal Church at Milton, Mass., uniting in marriage Miss Ann Reed Putnam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Putnam of Milton, and George Brooks Emeny Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Emeny of Highland Ave.

Rev. Roger Walke officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

For her wedding she wore a princess - styled floor - length gown of white silk organza of distinctive simplicity. Elbow-length sleeves and a wide oval neckline graced the molded bodice, and the flared skirt terminated into a wataut chapel length train.

Her mantilla veil was an heirloom of rose point lace, and she carried a cascade arrangement of eucharist lilies and stephanotis.

She was attended by her sister, Mary Reed Putnam of Milton, as maid of honor, and eight bridesmaids, Miss Elizabeth B. Emeny, and Miss Jean H. Emeny, sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Maria L. Gallagher of Manchester, Mass., and Miss Sarah R. Blodgett of Portland, Ore., cousins of the bride, Miss Edith Clifford, Miss Heather A. McCusker and Miss Candy J. Reiter, all of Milton, and Joan Williamson of Providence, R. I.

Floor length A-line aqua linen gowns with short sleeves were worn by the attendants. Their flowers were nosegays of galea leaves with delphinium florets.

Hugh T. Putnam Jr., brother of the bride, was best man. Ushering were Peter B. Davol of Concord, Mass., cousin of the bride, David L. Starbuck of Salem, Timothy M. Jones of Shaker Heights, William A. Shank of Paris, Michael S. Renkert of Canton, Louis R. Nichols Jr. of Sherborn, Mass., Robert L. Reed Jr. of Ardsley-on-Hudson, N. Y., and Arthur R. Watson and Michael W. Wiggins, both of Dedham, Mass.

Mrs. Putnam wore a deep blue shantung dress and spray of white orchids for her daughter's wedding. A light cocoa silk dress and corsage of Cimbidium orchids was chosen by Mrs. Emeny.

The couple will honeymoon at Nantucket and will reside at Proctor Academy, Andover, New Hampshire.

The bride is a graduate of Milton Academy and attended Mills College. She is a member of the Boston Junior League and the Vincent Club.

A graduate of Hotchkiss School in Connecticut and Mount Union College, Mr. Emeny is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Evelyn Kyser to Wed James Johnson

Mrs. Harry Kyser of 630 Main St., Washingtonville, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Evelyn Jeanne, to James Robert Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson of RD 3, Canfield. Miss Kyser is the daughter of the late Harry Kyser.

The couple will be married Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Rev. Sherman Brantingham in the presence of the immediate families. An open reception at the home of the bride's mother will immediately follow the ceremony.

Miss Kyser is a graduate of Leetonia High School and is employed by the Howard Johnson restaurant on the Ohio Turnpike. Her fiancé is employed by the Gartfield Slog Co. at Damascus and attended Greenford High School.

Whether she has enough curiosity and interest to want to go on learning all of her life, or is satisfied with what she learned in school.

Mrs. Marvin I. Berkman

Carol Caplan Is Bride Of Marvin Ian Berkman

Temple Rodef Sholem Chapel in Youngstown was the locale of the Sunday wedding uniting in marriage Miss Carol Marla Caplan, daughter of Atty. and Mrs. Lozier Caplan of N. Union Ave., and Marvin Ian Berkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berkman of Canton.

Dr. Sidney Berkovitz was officiating clergyman at the 2:30 p.m. ceremony.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of ivory silk peau de soie. Swiss re-embroidered lace detailed the bodice designed with brief sleeves and wide oval neckline, and the front of the skirt with back fullness flowing to a chapel train caught at the waist with a flower of self material. Her tiered shoulder-length veil was held by a matching pill-box hat trimmed with lace and seed pearls, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white and pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Lawrence Felsenthal of Columbus, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and wore pink silk chiffon with matching head-dress. Her colonial bouquet was of pink sweetheart roses and small white carnations.

Samuel Lefkowitz of Columbus, served Mr. Berkman as best man. Ushers were Gary Rich of New Philadelphia and Burton Vander of Canton, cousins of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Caplan wore a pink silk peau de soie sheath dress and Mrs. Berkman a blue silk chiffon, both complemented with corsages of cymbidium orchids.

Dinner for members of the wedding party and relatives was held at the Jade Room which was decorated with white snapdragons, pompons and pink sweetheart roses. The pink organza skirted cake table was adorned with smilax and white pompons.

From the reception the couple left for a honeymoon to San Juan, P. R., and St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. After Sept. 15th they will reside in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berkman were hosts at the rehearsal dinner Friday night at the Colonial House at Youngstown.

The bride attended the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla., and Ohio State University, and is a graduate of Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers at New York City.

Mr. Berkman is a graduate of Ohio State University and is presently enrolled in the University medical school. He is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: My husband recently devised a perfectly ingenious way to deflate an air mattress for storage. It is so simple that I cannot imagine why someone has not thought of it before!

After trying for an endless time to pat and flatten the stubborn thing, he connected the vacuum cleaner and placed the nozzle against the plastic opening of the mattress, pressed the switch (sucking all excess air out, and presto... the flattest mattress you have ever seen folded neatly with no puffy little corners.

It now lies on the shelf until we will need it again.

TEDDY LAHERTY.

And just what is the matter with deflating miniature swimming pools and swim-rings this way? I think it is terrific. Bless you for telling us this hint.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep birds from eating your fresh peaches, plums etc., just cut strips of plastic and tie them in your trees! The wind makes the plastic pop and it scares the birds away.

Also, cow bells (this is a bell you hang on a cow) could be used, but one could substitute any type of bell.

TRYER - OUTER.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who go on picnics and use mustard jars, catsup bottles or just anything trying to weigh down the tablecloth... and it just doesn't work... here's what we do:

We keep hunk tacks in our picnic basket.

When we arrive we put the cloth on the table and put one thumb tack on each corner and one in the middle of each side of the cloth.

The cloth will never blow away.

When it's time to go home, we just take a knife, remove the thumb tacks and replace them in the basket.

We have also learned, when taking along paper plates and wanting to set the table before the family comes to eat, that we can use one of these thumb tacks to tack the paper plates to the table and then as your plate gets empty... you do not have to chase it either!

MRS. MARTINEZ

Damascus Church Scene Of Filp-Biggs Wedding

Miss Kathleen Filp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Filp of Beloit, and Rev. James H. Biggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Biggs of Millville, N.J., were married Saturday at 2:30 p.m. by Rev. Edward R. Escolme in the sanctuary of the Damascus Friends Church.

Arrangements of white stock, carnations and pompons with a background of ferns provided the altar setting which was lighted with twin seven-branch candelabra.

Wesley Hisey of Canton was soloist, and Mrs. Omar Shreve presided at the organ.

Escorted by her father down an aisle marked with nosegays of miniature white carnations in white satin pew bows, the bride was given in marriage by her parents.

For her wedding she wore a full-length gown of candlelight peau de soie with bateau neckline and long sleeves. The slim skirt boasted back fullness fall-in to a full-length chapel train. A peau de soie rose trimmed in pearl petals held her four-tier, elbow-length veil, and her flowers were gardenias and stephanotis in tapered cascade arrangement.

Maid of honor was Miss Marjorie Filp, sister of the bride, Miss Judith Theiss of Salem, cousin of the bride, Miss Kathy Wuthrick of Damascus, and Miss Madeleine Meyers of Lake City, Minn., were bridesmaids. They wore floor-length gowns of aqua peau taffeta with fitted empire bodices and brief sleeves. Matching material roses with theatre veils were their headpieces, and they carried Parisian ball arrangements of white miniature carnations and yellow roses.

James H. Butts of Wilmore, Ky., was best man for his college classmate, and Omar Shreve of Damascus, Tim Filp, brother of the bride, and Rev. Paul Pedrick of Bridgeton, N.J., ushered. Dennis Shreve carried the rings.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Filp wore an aqua print dress, and the mother of the bridegroom a blue crepe lace jacketed dress. Both complemented their costumes with white carnation corsages.

Miss Amanda Russell of Keysville, Ga., was in charge of the guest book at the reception in the church fellowship hall.

A five-tier cake trimmed with roses edged in yellow centered a round table, and the appointment.

Mrs. James E. Biggs

Hostesses were Mrs. George Theiss, Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. Ann Cannell of Youngstown, all aunts of the bride, Joanne and Lana Griffith, Mrs. Frank Denny, Mrs. Dean Lautzenheiser, Mrs. Floyd Courtney, Beth and Kendra Phillips, Mrs. Elizabeth Stacy, Mrs. Richard Hitchcock, Mrs. Richard Manning, Mrs. G. B. Griffith and Mrs. Mahlon F. Griffith.

From the reception the couple left for a Florida honeymoon for which the bride wore a three-piece knit suit. They will reside at Linwood, N. J.

A graduate of Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., the bride had been employed as teacher in the Poland Schools.

Rev. Biggs is also a graduate of Asbury College, attends Eastern Baptist Seminary at Philadelphia, and serves as pastor of the Methodist Church in Linwood.

GIRLS ATTENDING FORESTRY CAMP — Stephanie Jo Thomas and Diana Brantingham (front row l. to r.) this week are attending forestry camp at Tar Hollow near Chillicothe. Their attendance is sponsored by the Salem Hunt Club. Bing Newton, (back row, left) local science teacher, selected Miss Brantingham for the trip because of her interest in science. Also pictured are F. E. Cope and George Siulea representing the hunt club. Miss Thomas was selected by the club because of her interest in conservation.

Stephanie Jo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomas of RD 2, Salem, a sophomore at United Local High School, while Diana is a daughter of Mrs. Katherine Brantingham of 518 E. 5th St. and a sophomore at Salem High.

Man Marries Girl He Won In Lottery

LONDON (AP)—John Butler, 27, is honeymooning today with the girl he won in a 5-cent lottery.

Butler bought a 3-pence (five cents) ticket during a charity drive by students of Birmingham College of Technology.

The prize was a blind date with any member of the college's netball team. Butler won, and chose Jill Teague, now 20.

One date followed another. They were married over the weekend. Said Jill's mother, Mrs. Evelyn Teague:

"People thought the lottery was in bad taste and I must admit I thought it a bit funny. But the outcome could not have been happier. They are ideally suited."

HANOVERTON TOURS SET

HANOVERTON — Persons attending the tours of homes on Plymouth St., to be held Wednesday by the Hanoverton Town and Country Garden Club, will meet in the social rooms of the United Presbyterian Church preceding the tours for tea. Mrs. Lee Cole will give a brief narration of historical facts preceding each tour.

Tours are set for 2 and 7 p.m.

ANSWER FIRE CALLS

City firemen made two runs Saturday but did not have to extinguish a blaze in either case.

At 3:55 p.m., a car owned by John Gool of Greenford backfired through the carburetor while at the corner of Lundy Ave. and State St. The fire was out when firemen arrived.

At 6:15 p.m., a controlled fire at the home of Roland Jackson of 252 W. Pershing St. was mistaken as a grass fire by neighbors and reported to the fire department.

FIND WOMAN'S LEG

TIPP CITY, Ohio (AP)—Officials have found another part of the body of a woman believed to be the victim of a dismemberment slaying. The latest member, a neatly severed right leg, was found Sunday in the old Erie Canal here. The leg was in a sack and encased in cement.

The search began last Monday night when a fisherman hooked an arm in a gravel pit. A second arm was found in the pit Tuesday and the torso was discovered in a pond Saturday. The search for the remaining leg and head is continuing.

YOUTH BITTEN BY DOG

James Lee Hammond, 17, of 294 Rose St. was bitten on the right leg by a dog belonging to Chesler Kridler of 247 W. 16th St. at 9:30 a.m. Sunday. Hammond was delivering newspapers on his bicycle when he was bitten.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 896. At all drug counters.

Carnation Festival

Scheduled In Alliance

ALLIANCE — The week of June 22-27 has been proclaimed by Gov. James A. Rhodes as Carnation City Week. It will commemorate the Fifth Annual Carnation City Festival to be staged here.

The festival is held annually in observance of Alliance being the birthplace of the scarlet carnation, propagated by the late Levi Lamborn.

Miss Judy Kell of Alliance, a freshman at Kent State University, is the 1963 Carnation Queen, but a new queen will be crowned June 19 at a kickoff celebration.

Hanoverton Council Okays Street Lights

HANOVERTON — Installation of four new street lights in the village was approved when Council met Friday in a session which had been delayed from Monday because of lack of a quorum.

Moving the fire siren from the fire house to the Old Town Hall building was also okayed. Council let a contract for resurfacing village streets at a cost of $592. The street committee reported that slag purchased for the streets has arrived.

Mayor George Wilson reported collecting fines of $30. Payment of bills totaling $704 was approved.

A note was read from the family of the late Dr. H. J. Pelley, expressing appreciation for the dedication of the plaque and playground in his memory.

1,000 Attend Summitville Homecoming

SUMMITVILLE — A firemen's parade sponsored by the Franklin Township Volunteer Fire Department opened the village's homecoming festivities Saturday night. Approximately 1,000 people watched 33 participating units in the parade.

Salem's Queen Ann Drill Team led the parade, followed by Mayor Ernest Phillips and homecoming queens Miss Tiju Tennola and Miss Sharon Kellison.

Trophies were presented to Southern Local Band of Salineville, United Twirlettes of Hanoverton; St. Patrick's Coleens of Leetonia and Rambling Riders Saddle Club of Salineville.

Four cash prizes were presented to the Minerva Fire Department for the best truck, Glenmore Fire Department for the best comic truck, Negley Volunteer Fire Department for best emergency vehicle and the Unionport Volunteer Fire Department for coming greatest distance.

Deputy Marshall Forrest Young, assisted by constables Walter Johnson of Wellsville, Roy Painter of Hanoverton, Glenn Guess of Mechanicstown and William Meir of Winona, handled traffic control. The State Patrol was represented by Ralph Reed of Lisbon.

Harvey Rogers of Summitville entered two steam engines in station.

The parade, after the parade the carnival was held in the fire Mayor Phillips termed the homecoming a success despite a downpour of rain later in the evening. He said that the event may become an annual Summitville affair.

Sebring Cars Collide

Two Sebring women motorists were involved in a crash Saturday at 5 p.m. on Route 62, about a mile east of Alliance but neither was hurt. Mrs. Marjorie Barnett, 38, of 700 21st St., was cited for failing to give an audible passing signal.

She and Kay A. Morgan, 23, of 216 1/2 Michigan Ave. were headed east when Mrs. Barnett started to pass two cars ahead at the time that Miss Morgan was turning left into a private drive, causing the collision.

Three Salem area mailboxes were knocked over by a Carroll County youth who lost control of his pickup truck on a curve Sunday at 2:20 p.m. and went left of center on Route 9, about five miles south of here. The Patrol cited Robert B. Manfull, 16, of Carrollton to Juvenile Court for speed excessive for conditions.

Only minor damage resulted in a mishap involving a car and truck Sunday night at 8:55 on Route 30 at the intersection of Route 170, north of East Liverpool.

A sedan driven by Andy S. Mehallie, 43, of Lorain and a tractor-trailer operated by Emerson Welshans, 45, of Burgettstown, Pa., both northbound on Route 30, started to turn left at the same time and sideswiped.

Another Carroll County boy, Carl D. Miller, 16, of RD 3 Carrollton, was cited to Juvenile Court for improper passing after he cut in too fast while passing and struck a car operated by Fred Congo, 71, of Wellsville Saturday at 10:05 p.m. on Route 7, about a mile south of East Liverpool.

BEGINS OBSERVANCE

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — This quiet Bosnian city today began observance of the 50th anniversary of the pistol shots that touched off World War I.

A simple memorial meeting opened a two-week period which will reach a climax June 28 with dedication of plaques and laying of wreaths.

The celebration will be modest. Though Gavrilo Princip's shots on June 28, 1914, are generally condoned here, they led to a war that killed more than 5 million fighting men, and planted the seeds of World War II.

'Infirmities' Fatal to Giant Elm In Winona

A 200-year-old Winona giant is dead.

A mammoth elm tree, at one time considered one of the largest in Ohio, succumbed to disease that necessitated its destruction.

With one-fourth of its system weakened by Dutch elm disease, it lost a large limb in a recent rain and windstorm and the utility pole caught fire. To prevent further problems, workmen with the Ohio Edison Co., directed by Tom Pike of Guilford Lake, sawed down the landmark just north of Sidwell's locker.

Oliver Sidwell said the elm was estimated to be 197 years old by ring count by George Harris. With a diameter of 4 1/2 feet, the tree at one time was ranked among the largest of its species in the state.

Sidwell said the tree was cut up into sections, hoisted by a crane and taken to a ravine on his farm. Some of the six-foot lengths weighed three tons. The bole was fairly solid but the lumber was unfit for use because of nails pounded in it.

E. Liverpool Man Named to Legion Post

Robert Poynter of East Liverpool was elected third division commander Sunday at the two-day 10th District convention of the American Legion held at Post 44 in Canton.

Over two hundred Legion members attended the past commanders banquet Saturday night. Robert Tasker of Carrollton, president of the Past Commanders Association, presided.

Donald Greunbaum of Marysville, state Legion commander, was the guest speaker.

Gerald Knight of Massillon was elected commander of the 10th District. James Sindler of Tiltonsville was elected first vice commander. Installation will be held at the Department of Ohio convention in Columbus July 24-26.

Grubenbaum spoke briefly on membership and programs of the Legion.

The convention closed with a parade led by the State Legion championship band from Salem. The Toronto Tor-Vets drill team took marching honors and the Tor-Vets Shadows won the junior drill team honors in one of the largest 10th District parades in recent years.

James Cregar of East Liverpool and Dwight Bush of North Georgetown were elected delegates to the national Legion convention in Dallas.

The 10th District comprises Carroll, Columbiana, Coshocton, Harrison, Holmes, Jefferson, Stark, Tuscarawas and Wayne counties.

shire's Republican presidential primary on write-in votes and now has 46 delegates who say they will vote for him on the first ballot at the Republican National Convention opening in San Francisco July 13.

Lodge's son, George Cabot Lodge, reported Sunday that he had informed the ambassador on Friday that the draft Lodge movement was supporting Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who entered the GOP presidential race that day.

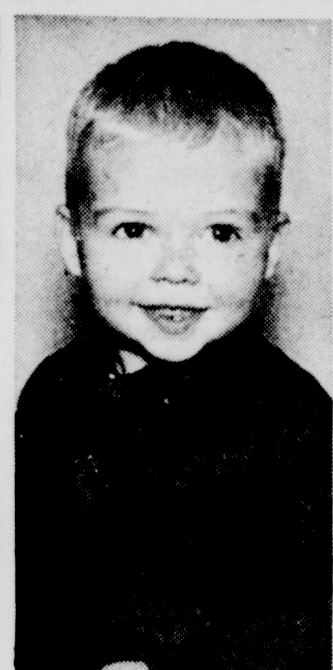

"My father sent me a telegram saying he was delighted by the decision to support Scranton. He said, 'Please tell Gov. Scranton how happy I am,'" the younger Lodge reported.

The Times dispatch, by Max Frankel under a Washington dateline, said: "Lodge told President Johnson that the resignation was prompted by reasons of health, which he did not specify. The timing of the request, dated yesterday (Saturday), will assure his return home no later than one day before the start of the Republican convention...."

Win Baby Contest At Picnic

Judy Flynn

Johnny Dutcher

Two Salem youngsters won prizes in the baby show at the 36th annual potter's picnic Saturday at Meyers Lake Park in Canton.

Johnny R. Dutcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dutcher of Stewart Rd., placed first in the 2 to 3-year age bracket, winning a $50 U. S. savings bond. Second place went to Judy Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Flynn of Salem RD 5. She was awarded a $25 savings bond.

Approximately 25,000 attended the potter's annual outing.

Near-perfect weather favored the potters and their friends, although there were a few sprinkles of rain in the afternoon.

Friends, relatives and city officials helped Rev. J. Richard Gaffney celebrate his 40th year as a priest Sunday at a day-long observance at St. Paul's Church and School.

The festivities started at an afternoon reception for 150 relatives and friends, following a noontime Solemn High Mass.

The evening reception open to the public brought 1,000 people into St. Paul's gym to honor Father Gaffney. Among those present at the reception were Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, Rev. Daniel Keister, president of Ministerial Association, Paul E. Smith, superintendent of Salem Schools and the Right Rev. Monsignor Joseph Heid, of East Palestine, head of the Columbiana Catholic Deanery.

They commended Father Gaffney for his outstanding community service, his service to the school system and especially on his 40th year as an ordained priest.

Toastmaster for the evening program was Albert A. Ross. The grade school children put on a special program. Grades 6 and 7 sang the hymn "Jesu, Christ, the Lord has Chosen". The third and fourth grades put on a skit titled "Father Gaffney's Band," while grades one and two featured a rhythm band and the tune, "Amaryllis."

The men's choir sang several selections. Presentations to Father Gaffney were made by the Knights of Columbus Council 1818 Third and Fourth Degrees, The Ladies Catholic Benevolent Association, Catholic Daughters of America and the Italian Ladies Club Association. Making the presentation on behalf of the parishioners was John Gonda. Refreshments were served.

Scranton

said, "I am a good, hard, fast runner."

Scranton's aides contend the Pennsylvanian has more than 105 delegates, but they are banking on strong second ballot support at the San Francisco convention to put Scranton into the top spot.

Goldwater presently heads a long lead in delegate strength, with 619 votes, according to the latest Associated Press poll. This is only 36 short of the number needed for nomination.

The Associated Press poll gives Scranton 113, compared to 127 for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, the No. 2 man in the delegate race.

Scranton, who announced his candidacy last Friday at the Maryland GOP convention in Baltimore, said, "The reaction has been fantastic." Appearing on the American Broadcasting Co. television program, "Issues and Answers," the governor said Sunday he has been buoyed by the response of Republicans throughout the nation.

Scranton and Pennsylvania State Chairman Craig C. Truax claim that only 250 of Goldwater's votes are from legally bound delegates. "There is a certain slippage of feeling for Goldwater," Scranton said.

Replies to a spot check of delegates following Scranton's announcement showed no headlong rush away from Goldwater, however.

There also were a few shifts from previously uncommitted delegates to Scranton's banner, notably four in North Dakota.

Goldwater backers across the nation contended the senator's delegates would stand fast.

The weekend conventions went about as expected. Goldwater gained support ranging from solid to unanimous at state conventions in Idaho, Utah, New Mexico, Virginia and Missouri. He picked up four of Connecticut's 16 and five of Maryland's 20. Scranton appeared before both conventions, winning 12 in Connecticut and four in Maryland.

Only in Minnesota, where forces favoring an uncommitted stand were victorious, did Goldwater fail to win support. Even there he has eight previously elected district delegates.

167 Pupils Attend Summer Classes

Summer school opened today with a total official enrollment of 167, far below usual figures for the off-season term.

Principal Wayne Grinnen reported the following numbers in four high school and two elementary classes: U. S. history, 62; world history, 27; Problems of Democracy, 27; personal use typing, 22; remedial arithmetic, 14; remedial reading, 15. Classes last six weeks.

Seventy-two other students are taking driver training this summer with 54 of these in the currently operating classes running through July 17. The others will start July 20 and attend classes until Aug. 28.

With Patients

Georgette Cunningham, 15, of RD 1, New Waterford, who was injured in the May 16 automobile accident on Route 14, four miles east of Columbiana, which took the life of Robert Bolam of East Palestine, is reported in "good" condition at Salem City Hospital, where she is receiving further treatment for her injuries.

Jeffrey Carr, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carr of RD 1, North Benton, was treated at Alliance City Hospital at 8 p.m. Saturday for dog bites on the face and neck.

Mrs. Nancy Green of Home- worth, who lacerated her left leg in a fall from a bicycle, was treated at the Alliance hospital at 4 p.m. Saturday.

This and That

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Here's a consoling Leap Year statistic, ladies: Some 93.5 per cent of women eventually marry.

There's no truth in the old saying that two can live as cheaply as one, but the U.S. Department of Agriculture has found this out: Food costs for individuals who live alone run about 20 per cent more than they do for each member of a family of four.

In Greece, bankmobiles tour isolated areas too small to support banks of their own.

In Norfolk, Va., it once was against the law for a woman to attend a public dance without wearing a corset.

Quotable notable: "The truth is that normal men will always be what women want them to be" — Mary Roberts Rinehart.

World's Fair officials here, who expect up to 80 million visitors in two years, have set up medical facilities to care for about 80,000 cases of emergency illness or injury.

The price of highway accidents eventually adds up to more than the costs of building the roads originally. Safety officials put the economic loss for highway accidents in 1963 at approximately $8 billion. They also figure that the death toll of 43,000 cost these people "2,150,000 more years of precious life."

Folklore: You can expect company soon if you find tea leaves floating in your cup. When flies bite, it's a sign of rain. To cure the rheumatiz, put a little dry mustard in your shoe. Sleep in a bean field, or in full moonlight, and you'll go mad.

Quickies: A young eagle weighs about a pound more than its mother before it leaves its nest. A worn dollar bill makes a good lint-free eye-glass cleaner. A survey found that the only things men can taste better than women are lemon, vinegar and sour grapes. You swallow some 3,000

When You Set Out To Pry, Use Proper Tool for Job

For those who respect and care for their tools, there are few sadder sights than a screw driver that has been snapped in half. The uses obviously has used the tool in place of a pry bar.

Since the tool was designed to withstand a twisting action, it broke.

Though pry bars or wrecking tools, they should be in every one's collection. These are leverage tools, designed to multiply a man's strength.

Pry bars are basically inexpensive tools, far cheaper than the tools you will ruin for the lack of one. They vary in name, not only because of different design and use but because of different manufacturers as well.

ONE OF THE MOST common types is the bar with a flat angled blade at one end, a hooked claw at the other. Called a pinch bar or a gooseneck ripping bar, it may vary in length from 12 to 36 inches.

With the very sharp angle of the claw you can pull a nail that an ordinary claw hammer couldn't handle. You can move the bar through an arc far greater than 90 degrees, thus continuing to pull a long nail with a single stroke.

If the nail is hard to get at, use the thin, flat edge to gouge some space under the head, then use the claw. For wrecking, make an opening between planks with the blade, then use the claw to finish the wrecking.

IF YOU ARE WORKING on a finished surface and don't want to dent it, place scrap wood under the claw so that you rock the bar on the scrap surface.

The straight ripping bar, looking somewhat like a gooseneck bar, has only a slight angle at the claw end, allowing you to work in tighter quarters.

Painting Masonry? Here Are Some Important Tips

In painting concrete, stucco, resins especially suitable for swimming pools, and transparent silicone coatings. Oil-based paints generally are not recommended, although the exterior kind may be used over sound, previously painted surfaces.

Before painting masonry, all dirt and dust should be removed by brushing and scrubbing with water. Wiping with turpentine or an odorless solvent will take off oil or grease. Metal objects imbedded in the walls or other surfaces should be primed with an anti-corrosive metal primer, and all cracks should be patched. A wire brush is necessary for removing loose or peeling paint and will also take away any chalk particles.

THE LATEX PAINTS can be applied to wet or dry surfaces, the Portland cement paints to wet surfaces only, the others to dry surfaces.

Portland cement paint comes as a powder in white and a variety of colors and penetrates the masonry. The powder is mixed with water just before use. Only enough mixture should be made which can be applied in a maximum of four hours. The walls must be thoroughly wetted and kept wet while the paint is scrubbed into the surface with a brush. While Portland cement paint is often used as a sealer for cement block, it is not suitable for patios or other areas which will be walked on.

WHEN IT IS DESIRABLE not to change the original color of the masonry, transparent silicone coatings are excellent. They perform their protective function by lining the pores of the material. No water can penetrate his barrier; and as it runs off, it takes surface dirt with it. Silicone paints should not be used until the surface has weathered for at least 30 days.

In painting an irregular surface, such as stucco, special long-bristled wall brushes are available. Another way to be sure the paint gets into the irregularities of stucco is to apply it with a sprayer.

Woman's Touch Make Drab Project 'Thing of Beauty'

Women's esthetic sense could be put to good use when a man is planning some project indoors or outdoors. But try to get him to listen.

The man is so full of logarithms, levels and plumb lines, that he'll pay no attention to a good suggestion that could give a project a touch of beauty.

If he is planning a porch, he is planning it wood-wise and construction-wise. When his wife thinks of that porch, she thinks of it as an accessory to the house that should be as in tune with its main part as dress accessories are with a wardrobe.

She is interested in color and furnishings and how the porch is going to look as part of the house.

Women can be helpful, too, in suggestions about landscaping patios and walks. They have more time than men to devote to plans. A man gets an idea and he doesn't want to bother improving on it. If it is workable, he goes ahead with the project. But when a woman gets an idea, she is likely to exhaust all possibilities before making the ultimate decision.

men laugh at how women change their minds, but a woman strives for perfection by hashing and rehashing until she is convinced that she is on the right track. Men haven't time to hear women out and they consider that kind of cogitation a bore.

ONE MAN WAS ALL set to lay a brick terrace at the side of his house with the idea of screening it in next year. When his wife inquired what pattern he planned to use, the man almost flipped. It was enough just to get the bricks into the ground, he told her. So she offered to do the job if she could have carte blanche.

Happy to farm out the back-breaking chores, he put in the sand and wooden frame for her. She took about 20 bricks into the house and spent a day making all sorts of attractive designs on the floor until she had a pattern she wanted. Then she set her goal. She measured the area and divided the 20 by 30 foot space into 8 spaces of 5 by 5 feet, figuring she'd do one area each day.

SHE USED A HERRINGBONE pattern—rows of parallel lines with adjacent rows slanting in the reverse direction. She chose the pattern because when shined and darkened it would be especially glamorous and cool-looking floor for a screen porch.

Another woman managed to dress up a drab path at the rear of her house with pebbles and other small stones she found on the beach.

All winter long she had gone to a beach a few miles from her home, filled baskets with beautiful stones and carried them to her house where she put them in large canvas sacks and stored them in the garage.

Her husband and other men in the neighborhood laughed at her pebble-picking as they called it.

WHEN SHE WAS READY, she dug down several inches along the 15-foot path, filled it with sand and placed her colorful stones in it. She then put prepared dry cement mix over it, and lightly sprinkled it with water. This washed the cement off the pebbles, filling in the cracks nicely, and what a lovely path she had!

The only regret, she says, is that she hadn't taken time to match up colors and make a pretty design sort of like a beaded Indian belt," she said. The belated thought drove her a little wild, she admitted, but her husband breathed a sigh of relief when she said that she wouldn't dig it up—not now, anyway.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: We soon will be doing over the hardwood floor in our living room. A friend has recommended what he calls a synthetic resin finish. I believe I have heard of this product being used in commercial establishments. Is it practical for home floors?

ANSWER: The type of floor finish which falls into the synthetic resin category is excellent for floors in the home. It is a surface coating with a tough, durable film that wears well, even under heavy traffic. It can be applied by brush or roller and dries quickly. A second coat can be applied in an hour, but the first should be sanded lightly. Two coats are sufficient to produce a satin sheen, but if a high gloss is desired, a third coat should be applied after overnight drying. The manufacturers of this type of finish often point out that it can be kept bright and clean by dusting with a dry mop or wiping with a damp cloth, dispensing with constant waxing. One point we'd like to make: no matter what kind of finish you use, the success of your job will depend to a large degree on how much care and effort you put into the removal of the old finish and the preparation of the wood for the next finish.

Televising The Fair

By ALAN GILL

While visitors to the RCA exhibit at the New York World's Fair say their "oohs" and "ahs" over the appointments of this ultra modern color TV studio, the man who runs the place, James Toney, sits back in his cheerful office, nestled in a far corner of the building, and watches his TV screen. "Here comes a strong, silent type," he says, "Watch. He'll just out his jaw when he sees himself on the screen, maybe give us a look at his better profile."

The MAN in the big hat does just that. With scores of other visitors, the big hat is moving along on the turntable that will take him past a color TV camera and screen.

"You can sit here all day, hypnotized," says Toney. "There are so many reactions. There's placed largely at exhibits, lounges, waiting rooms and restaurants.

THE STUFF televised, except for five-minute news spots every two hours, is almost entirely concerned with the fair itself, its exhibits, events, visiting celebrities and lost children.

"We want to give visitors to the fair a view of the things they otherwise would miss unless they come here every day for five weeks," says Toney.

There are films of the building of the Unisphere and the lighting of the Pieta. There are sports shows, children's shows, zoo shows, shows featuring prominent comic strip artist, fashion shows, concerts, and, most prominently, short films fastening on the artifacts, customs, and peoples of the international pavilions.

VISITORS keeping an eye on the color screen have seen the Watusis, some West Virginia glassblowers, the Wayfarers cutting an album, King Hussein, "Miss America," "Mrs. America a bunch of educated" ducks who pick flowers and play the piano, a parade of elephants, judo and karate lessons, the Jordanian bagpipers, the Dead Sea scrolls and Burr Tillstrom.

Between our live TV stuff here at the exhibit and the closed-circuit material," Toney tells a visitor, "We'll have programmed 4,000 hours in six months. The three networks, I believe, program 3,000 hours among them in a year."

"Since the fair opened, I've been home only three days and I missed my birthday party. Lou Ames, who's our programming manager, has been home twice. Wednesday we worked straight through till dawn."

BUT TONEY isn't kicking, because the fair is a "sweet mood," a "crazy frame of mind."

"New Yorkers never have struck me with their patience and courtesy," Toney says, "but there, on opening day, they stood, the rain pouring down their faces. They were smiling, docile, cheerful. I couldn't believe my eyes."

"I went down the line and asked them all where they came from. Brooklyn! The Bronx! The fair had taken all the push and shove — the wolf bit — out of their natures. They were out for a good time."

Between now and closing day, Toney and Ames hope to have everything worth seeing at the 1964-65 fair locked on color tape. "As it is," says Toney, "a fellow can come to a fairgrounds tavern where one of our sets is placed, can drink all day, can get beautifully high while he watches our show, can go home to his wife and swear he saw the whole darned fair."

Cleveland, Twins Start Series Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — June may be bustin' out all over for some people, but for the Cleveland Indians there has been little to sing about.

Since June 3, the Indians have lost 11 of 15 games, have been humiliated by the lowest clubs on the American League totem pole and are hanging on the brink of the second division, tied with Boston in fifth place. They were in third June 3 after winning five straight.

They lost four straight to the Los Angeles Angels last week and three straight to last-place Kansas City Athletics, who wound up their four-game stay with a doubleheader sweep Sunday before 30,013, largest crowd of the season.

In all except one of the June disasters, the Indians scored runs, but the pitching fell down. Only one pitcher has lasted nine innings.

General manager Gabe Paul, questioned after the Indians dropped two Sunday, 6-5 in 10 innings and 3-2, blamed the team's troubles on the fact the players are "pressing."

"There are young players at a number of positions," he observed. "I know the team is pressing. When Daddy Wags (Leon Wagner) isn't hitting, it makes things rough."

In the opening game, Dick Donovan was tagged for three runs in the first inning, then settled down and blanked the Athletics over the next six innings while the Indians were demolishing the Kansas City lead.

Max Alvis gave the Indians their first run in the second, and a walk, Dick Hower's triple and Vic Davalillo's single tied the score in the fifth.

A wild throw in the seventh by Kansas City reliever Dan Pfister paved the way for two more runs. Hower walked, and Davalillo put down a good sacrifice punt. But Pfister threw the ball into right field, Hower scooted all the way home, and Davalillo made it to third, scoring on Bob Chance's single.

An error by Hower and a wild pitch and a wild throw by Donovan helped the Athletics tie the game again. Former Indian Rocky Colavito got on second in the eighth when Hower let his grounder get by at shortstop. He went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Jim Gentile's infield out.

Donovan was relieved by Ted Abernathy in the ninth after Dick Green singled and went to third on Donovan's wild pickoff attempt.

A single by Wayne Causey scored Green with the tying run. Gentile clouted a home run in the tenth, giving him four runs batted in for the game.

In the second game rookie southpaw Tommy John blanked the Athletics on two hits over five innings. The first two men up in the sixth singled and advanced on a wild pitch, putting Nelson Mathews on third in position to score on Gentile's sacrifice fly.

That tied the score at 1-1. John Romano put the Indians ahead again with a homer, but Green slammed a two-run homer in the seventh to give the Athletics their winning margin. The Tribe opens a four-game series here tonight against fourth-place Minnesota. Pedro Ramos (3-4) will oppose the Twins' Dick Sigman (3-4).

Colts' Farrell Reaches 10-Game Plateau; Phils Take Twin Bill

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Houston's Dick Farrell pitched with a gun at his back. The gun's name is Nellie Fox. Farrell, who figures the scrappy Fox is the latest weapon in his well-stocked pitching arsenal, became the first 10 game winner in the major leagues Sunday night as he scattered eight hits in a 4-1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

A converted reliever acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers for the premier $125,000 price tag in the National League expansion draft, Farrell is in his

CIO 3816 Hand Bliss 3-1 Setback

Two runs in the initial inning were all CIO 3816 needed as it posted a 3-1 victory over Bliss in a Class E junior baseball contest at Centennial Park Saturday.

Leetonia 4022 evened its season as it knocked off Famous Market 12-4.

Knight's of Columbus got back on the winning trail, clipping UCT 13-10 in a Class G clash.

Bob Luttmers and Ron Parolanti hit singled for CIO 3816 in the first inning, and both athletes scored on errors. Reed Votaw, Parolanti and Luttmers paced the winners (3-0) with two hits apiece.

Jim Lantz singled in the first inning, and Jim Milligan, who scored the losers' run, singled in the third for Bliss' only hits. CIO 3816 pitcher Bob Rozeski struck out nine and walked four.

Tim Harrold was the big batter for Leetonia. He cracked four singles, and scored three times. John Vrabel and Ray Di-Cross each had two hits for the winners (1-1).

Gary Schuster and Tod Chapel hit key singles in Famous Market's (1-3) three-run fifth inning.

Knight's of Columbus (5-1) tied its game with six runs in the sixth inning, with only one hit. Three errors allowed four of the runs to score.

Jon Pukalski collected three singles to pace the Knights. Dan Russell and Dave Freeman each had a triple and single. Jay Youtz led UCT (2-4) with a home run and a triple. Floyd Crawford collected a double and three singles. Harry Ehrhart socked a triple in the three-run third inning.

third and most productive season as a starter. And that's where Fox, acquired from the Chicago White Sox, enters the picture.

"He keeps me bearing down," said the 30-year-old right-hander. "He is always on my back." Farrell had a 10-20 record for the Colts in 1962 and was 14-13 last year. But with the helpful intimidation of the little second baseman he has reached the first plateau en route to a 20-victory season with the best record in the majors.

Farrell's latest triumph was his seventh in a row and brought his record to an eye-opening 10-1. It also extended the Cardinals' skid. St. Louis now has lost four straight and 18 of its last 24 while falling into eighth place, 6½ games behind National League leading Philadelphia.

The Phillies swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 9-5 and 4-2, boosting their lead over second-place San Francisco to one-half game. The Giants' rode homers by Orlando Cepeda and Jim Hart to an 8-2 victory over Cincinnati.

Elsewhere in the NL, Milwaukee swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Dodgers by identical 5-1 scores and the Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh 5-2. The second game of the Cubs-Pirates doubleheader was rained out.

Farrell struck out nine and walked two, allowing the Cardinals' only run in the sixth when Bill White tripled and Ken Boyer singled. Al Spangler provided the runs Farrell needed with two sacrifice flies, the last capping a three-run fifth inning uprising that put it away against Bob Gibson, 5-4.

John Briggs, starting his first major league game because of a leg injury to Wes Covington, produced the fireworks for the Phillies in the opener. Briggs

Nook Walters Wins Feature At Canfield

Nook Walters of Niles and Gus DeLong of Struthers came through with their first victories of the year at Canfield Speedway Saturday night before 4,778 fans.

Walters, starting on the pole, led all the way to cop the late model 25 lap race. Chuck Daugherty of Poland gave Walters a run for several laps, but Jim Bickerstaff of Mineral Ridge and Bill Forney of Youngstown who started at the tail end made a determined bid. They caught Daugherty but Walters' lead was too much to overcome. Forney was second and Bickerstaff third.

The amateur 20 lapper was a wild race. Vince Carbone of Warren led for 12 laps, but Gary Cross of Niles, trying to pass him, tangled on the 12th lap and Ray Thomas of Austintown took over. With only one lap to go, Thomas spun and was hit broadside by Jim Gillespie of Warren. DeLong then moved in to win. Bud Comm of Boardman was second.

Salem's Ken Suggett, driving his car in the amateur division, finished fifth in the first heat. Carl Nutter came in second in the first consolation race. Harry Maemz placed fourth.

Bickerstaff took the first heat in the late model bracket. Dick Lantz of New Falls took the second heat, and Bob Milley of Kent, the third heat.

Bob Greer of Hubbard took the pursuit, and Bill Larson of Youngstown, the consolation.

In the initial heat in the amateur races, Gary Cross of Niles was first. Struthers' Lou Parker took the second heat, 3 heat; and Bob Benzenhoeffer of 3 Youngstown, fourth heat.

Consolation winners were Benzenhoeffer and Harold Juilerat of New Springfield.

singled twice, slammed a double, drove in two runs and scored twice, riding home on Richie Allen's 13th homer in the fourth.

John Callison took over against the Mets in the nightcap, driving in three runs with a homer and double. Art Mahaffey got the nightcap victory with Ed Roebuck's relief help after Ray Culp posted his first victory since April 26 in the opener.

Cepeda and Hart, who drove in three runs, hit consecutive homers against Reds starter Jim O'Toole, 5-3 in the third inning. Willie Mays also figured heavily in the attack with a single, double, triple and three runs scored. Ron Herbel, 4-2, got the victory with an eighth-inning hit.

The Braves unloaded 11 extra-base hits—including the 350th homer of Hank Aaron's major league career—and became the first team in two years to sweep a doubleheader against the Dodgers in Los Angeles.

Aaron, Felipe Alou and Denis Menke homered in the opener while Tony Cloninger, 5-5, pitched a five-hitter. Gene Oliver slammed a bases-empty homer and a run-producing double in the nightcap while Bob Sadowski, Dan Schneider and Denny Lemaster combined to check the Dodgers on seven hits.

Billy Cowan and Lou Brock slammed two-run homers as the Cubs whipped the Pirates. Dick Ellsworth, 8-5, had a four-hit shutout until the ninth when Gene Freese accounted for the Pittsburgh runs with a two-run homer.

Hansen Sets Record In Pole Vault

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Fred Hansen, the slim, record-cracking vaulter from Texas, was almost eliminated at the now common 16-foot mark at pre-Olympics tryouts.

"I just wasn't warmed up enough for the early jumps and wasn't rocking back (on the fiber glass pole) like I should," said Hansen.

He went on to clear 17 feet, 2 inches, an unofficial world record, at the invitational meet here Saturday night. But previously he missed the 16-foot qualifying mark twice, finally clearing it on his final try after seven others had made it.

"I felt that I could break the record again, once I got going," the 6-foot, 168-pound Texan said later. "I felt good, the conditions were good and the competition was good."

Hansen, 23, a pre-dental student at Rice University, soared 17-1 last week at Houston to better John Pennel's pending world mark of 17'4".

Pennel of Miami, Fla., the only other vaulter ever to clear 17 feet, was Hansen's fiercest competitor Saturday night. The bar was raised to 17-2 by mutual consent of Hansen and Pennel after two others, Mel Hein Jr. and Ron Meyers, were eliminated at 16-8½. They cleared 16-5.

Pennel, formerly of Northwest Louisiana State, narrowly evaded serious injury when he failed in his second try at 17-2. He missed the foam rubber cushion and suffered a bruised lung, according to hospital officials. He was observed through the night and released from the hospital Sunday.

The meet also turned in the world's quickest half-mile this year when veteran Jerry Siebert was clocked in 1:47.5. The world mark is 1:45.1, set by Peter Snell of New Zealand in 1962.

Yanks Take 2, Cop Chisox Series; Orioles Garner 1st

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We have been going good, and we are going to get better," said Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox shortly before his American League leaders started a five-game series with the New York Yankees.

The White Sox now are in second place.

The Yankees took care of that, using just 50 hours for a sweep of the series. They completed the annihilation Sunday, taking a doubleheader 8-3 and 4-3 in 10 innings.

The double loss coupled with Baltimore's two victories over Boston put the Orioles on top, one game and 10 percentage points ahead of the White Sox, who have dropped six straight.

The third-place Yankees moved four percentage points behind Chicago, holding a seven game winning streak, longest in the majors this season.

The rampaging Yankees rendered the White Sox attack so ineffective it might take Lopez the rest of the year to find it. Chicago managed only 28 hits in the series and scored only 10 runs.

The White Sox came close to averting the sweep but couldn't hold off New York in the ninth inning of Sunday's nightcap. Trailing 3-1, the Yankees scored twice with the aid of shortstop Ron Hanse's error, then won it in the 10th on Joe Pepitone's run-scoring single.

Another highlight of the five-game doubleheader day was the 30 home runs that were hit in the league. That tied the major league record set June 10, 1962.

Minnesota's power-laden Twins led the onslaught in their 6-5 and 9-2 victories over Washington. The Orioles clobbered the Red Sox 10-1 and 8-1. Kansas City edged Cleveland 6-5 in 10 innings and 3-2 and Detroit squeaked by Los Angeles 6-5 and 6-4.

Juan Pizarro suffered his third loss in 10 decisions in the opener. Howard and Phil Linz rocked him for two-run homers in the second. Linz added a solo homer in the eighth.

Baltimore moved into first place behind the five-hit pitching of Chuck Estrada and Dick Hall in the nightcap. Estrada pitched the first five innings, enough for his first victory since May 21, 1963. Jerry Adair drove in two runs for the Orioles, giving him five for the day.

Brooks, Robinson and Luis Aparicio each lashed four hits in the opener. Robinson hit a home run, a triple and two singles while Aparicio collected a triple and three singles and stole three bases.

The Twins' Harmon Killebrew pounded three homers, giving him 20 for the season. He hit two in the first game while Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles added one each. Fred Valentine homered with two aboard for the Senators.

Minnesota also clouted four homers in the nightcap, including Allison's 15th. The Twins' Johnny Goryl was throw out of the game in the sixth after charging and punching pitcher Jim Duckworth who hit him with a pitch. Duckworth was fined $50.

Home runs decided both of the games between the Athletics and the Indians. Jim Gentile who previously knocked in three runs, connected in the 10th inning of the opener while Dick Green hammered a two-run homer in the seventh for the second-game triumph.

John Romano's homer had given the Indians a brief 2-1 lead in the sixth.

The Tigers won the second game on Don Demeter's two-run double in the four-run seventh. The blow came off reliever Bob Lee, who also was the victim of Dick McAuliffe's eighth-inning homer which won the opener.

Jimmy Piersall, Bobby Knoop and Joe Adcock homered for the Angels in the first game.

Lema Eyes Open; Wins Buick Golf

By BERNIE KENNEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Tony Lema, more surprised than anybody else over his victory in the $66,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament Sunday, headed today for the National Open at Washington, D.C., hoping that lightning strikes three times in a row.

"I've never done very well in the National Open and I don't have any particular feeling about it this year," said Lema after becoming the first pro in 21 months to put together major victories in successive weeks. He preceded his Buick Open triumph with victory in the $100,000 Thunderbird at Rye, N.Y. The National Open starts Thursday.

The San Leandro, Calif. native kept his usual custom and ordered champagne in the press room following his victory on the 7,280-yard, par-72 Warwick Hills course.

Lema had a 70 in his final round and finished with an 11-under par 277 to pick up nearly $9,000 in prize money.

His round featured four birdies, one on the first hole which he solved for the fourth straight round in the tourney. It was the same hole on which he had taken a seven in the open two years ago.

Dow Finsterwald finished with a 71 for a total of 280 and was runner-up here for the second straight year. Bob Charles, the left-handed New Zealander, finished with a 67 to take third place money with a 283.

Lema became the first pro to win two tournaments in a row since Jack Nicklaus won in Seattle and Portland, Ore. in September, 1962.

MANILA—Al Asuncion, 121½, Philippines, stopped Jose Roldo Ferrer, 124½, Venezuela, 7. SASSARI, Sardinia—Salvatore Burrini, 120, Italy, outpointed Antonio Lazzaro Blanquer, 119, Spain, 10. MEXICO CITY—Luis Gonzalez, 110½, Mexico City, stopped Jose Lopez, 110½, Tijuana, 5.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

The picnic at Yankee Lake was a big success. This picnic was sponsored by the Youngstown Grocers Association. There was food available from 1 to 5 and dancing from 3 to 7. Our meat department, our grocery department and produce department were all there for the fun. We hope the Youngstown Grocers Association has just as big of a success next year as this one.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Public Misunderstands Epilepsy

Along with the tragic events in Dallas there has come a great deal of speculation about the relationship between epilepsy and crime. To put the matter as simply as possible, there is no relationship between epilepsy and mental deficiency or insanity. A false idea got started years ago. It was based on inadequate observation, and it has been very hard to stamp out.

It is as though a criminal or a mental defective was found to have diabetes (and many of them do). Then, as a result, we were to say, "Well, you know how it is with these diabetics!"

AS A MATTER OF FACT, a large group of criminals in Massachusetts were studied and not one of them was found to be epileptic. There are about 1.8 million known epileptics in the United States whose seizures are well controlled with the newer anticonvulsant drugs.

Yet, because of ancient fears and prejudices, they suffer unnecessary handicaps. They often find it hard to get employment in spite of the fact that they make good and safe workers.

They may also have difficulty being accepted in schools and colleges despite outstanding mental ability. They may in some states be barred from marrying although their disease is not directly transmissible to their offspring. When an epileptic does have emotional and behavior problems, it is often due to overprotection by loving but misguided parents, social rejection and other undue hardships heaped upon them by a poorly informed society.

FINALLY I would like to say a word for those unfortunate persons who have mild forms of epilepsy that go unrecognized as such. They go through life branded as ill-tempered, irritable or "difficult" when a simple brainwave test would put them on the track of proper treatment.

Anticonvulsant drugs have made enormous improvements in the dispositions of children who had been having a hard time with their classmates, teachers and parents until a wise doctor had the insight to order an electroencephalogram — the test which reveals the abnormal brain waves of epilepsy even when the victim is not having an attack.

Untreated epilepsy will not account for all the misfits but

Watch out! Stare too long at a Catalina, and next thing you know you're shattering another sales record in Pontiac's best year.

People like to look at big, handsome Wide-Track cars, though. And drive them. And buy them. Obviously. We're selling more Pontiacs this year than ever before. Catalinas, naturally. And Tempests. Le Mans. Bonneville. And Grand Prix. Each with Pontiac style. Pontiac ride. Pontiac power. Pontiac resale value. All this is just what you're looking for? Well, then, go ahead and stare. Wide-Track Pontiac

*Latest figures show Pontiac a solid third place in sales again, up 24.54% so far in 1964, and every Pontiac bought now sets another all-time high. Here's your chance to break a world's record.
